Further details about funding needs

Sirona connects with partners in countries with energy access problems supplies them with the business plan, training, equipment and support to needed to start new businesses. Access to funding is a critical barrier for our partners, so project funding based on anticipated revenue would be ideal. This would be low interest, patient capital with some risk to the investor. In addition funding for inventory for projects, funding for Sirona's inventory and cashflow needs is often critical between projects.
